

UPCOMING EXHIBITIONS

Material Pursuits

September 4 - December 14, 2007

Pipecleaners, Sculpey, paper, embroidery, flocking, and mosaics are among the media that will be featured in Material Pursuits, a large-scale exhibition exploring how contemporary American artists are creating conceptual artworks utilizing methods, materials, and strategies usually associated with craft. Material Pursuits presents the work of a new generation of artists who, more than thirty years after craft materials were appropriated into the domain of American art, are unfettered by the longstanding debates that defined the boundaries between art and craft. Instead, their chosen techniques are driven more by their interest in exploring both the conceptual and material potential of these unconventional media. The resulting works reflect a new fascination, even obsession, with the particular and mundane, yet their temperaments range from whimsical to politically astute.

DIRECTOR'S NOTES

This summer finds the Fleming Museum closed for facility renovation for the first time in over 20 years. The University of Vermont is undertaking several construction projects that necessitate—for reasons of safety—that we restrict public access. Among the projects to be completed between June 25 and September 3, 2007 are a new roof for much of the Museum, improved handicap access, and a remodeled auditorium featuring new seating and carpeting, improved acoustics, and updated audio/visual equipment.

These projects are necessary physical improvements that allow the Museum to continue to meet the expanding needs of its many audiences and we are grateful to the University for its commitment to update and enhance this important cultural gateway.

We take the opportunity in this issue of On View to thank our members and donors for the foundational support you have provided the Museum during the past year. Your investment in the Fleming's mission makes it possible for us to offer to you world-class art and cultural artifacts and innovative educational programming.

Your generosity contributed to an exceptional year in 2006, the 75th anniversary of the Fleming's founding. The opening of our newest permanent collection gallery, the James B. Petersen Memorial Gallery of Native American Cultures, was complemented with a diverse and exciting exhibition calendar that included Amazonian featherworks, contemporary Native American glass sculpture, and work by Pakistani-American artist Ambreen Butt, as well as a series of exhibitions drawn from objects in our permanent collection.

Our most recent exhibition, Burlington and Winooski 1920-2020: The Evolution of our Built Environment drew enthusiastic attendance with a unique blend of local history and creative presentation.

We are deeply grateful for your contributions to the Fleming Museum and look forward to seeing you this fall, when we reopen the Museum with an exciting new suite of exhibitions and programs.

EDUCATION

► Summer Outreach Program

The world is alive with color, but where does it come from? For centuries, artists and dyers searched for ways to create rich and vibrant colors, once made from some of the most expensive materials on earth. In this program, we'll discover the surprising tales behind some of our favorite colors as we explore the symbolism and history of color in art. A Museum volunteer will travel to your site. For more information, please contact Christina Fearon, curator of education and public programs, at 802-656-0750.

Art classes at the Fleming provide an exciting opportunity for children to explore the Museum's collection, experiment with art materials, and create their own works of art inspired by the galleries. The classes offer individualized attention and the chance to experiment with a variety of media such as painting, drawing, 3-D sculpture, and mixed media. Museum Family Membership: $35, General: $45.
